

I and hundreds of thousands of other radio listeners receive all of the radio programming that we listen to via low power FM translators. If these proposed rule changes take effect I understand that we could possibly lose our access to the programs that are currently available no other way. It could mean that there would be no classical music, no jazz, no in-depth national news, and no christian music in our community. Please don't allow LPFM stations to take priority over the translators upon which we depend for radio programming. Thank you.
